Designing mobilia to personalize her projects is part of Fernanda Marques office's day to day. However, rare are the occasions in which such piece's gain autonomy due to their inherent qualities, and become part of the company's product portfolio, which is the case of this sideboard, executed by Omles Marcenaria.

"Our biggest challenge was pondering the internal division of the piece so to tailor it to my clients' habits", states the architect. She attributes the piece's sharp linearity and its' neat finish to the appeal generated by the creation, "the combination between iron wood and metallic bands is timeless".
